MTB A challenging tour through the wild and secluded Val Marcia.

Starting from Santa Croce, the route takes you through various small towns up to the picturesque village of Rango, then on to the beginning of Val Marcia. You'll follow a forest road on the right side of the valley without significant elevation changes, entering a completely uninhabited and wild area. After about 8 km, you cross a stream and tackle approximately 100 meters of elevation gain before reaching the highlight of the route: a beautiful but demanding trail of almost 1 km that winds its way up the slope through dense woods. Caution is needed in some sections, where there is a high risk of falling. After completing the technical section, you face a steep descent on a paved road before leisurely cycling through orchards and fields back to the starting point.
